From Southern Brazil to the world's most refined tables.

Established in 1996, Villa Germania was founded with a singular vision: to serve the extraordinary through Gourmet Proteins. Today, as Latin America's leading producer and exporter of duck, quail, organic chicken, free range slow growth chicken and guinea fowl, the company combines tradition, precision and innovation to meet the expectations of the most demanding culinary markets worldwide.

Our products begin with carefully selected European genetics from France and England, raised in the pristine landscapes of Southern Brazil. Every stage of production is guided by strict standards of animal welfare and environmental stewardship, ensuring not only integrity, but also the depth of flavor, texture, and consistency required in fine dining.

Across our production chain, Villa Germania generates more than 400 direct jobs and approximately 1,000 indirect opportunities, contributing to the sustainable development of the regions where we operate. Our model is built on a close and long-standing partnership with over 80 integrated families, reflecting a strong commitment to shared growth, technical support, and consistent quality at every stage.

Our industrial facilities stand among the most internationally approved in Brazil, holding one of the highest numbers of export authorizations in the country. This extensive global certification portfolio reinforces our ability to serve diverse markets with excellence, reliability, and full regulatory compliance.

Villa Germania is internationally recognized for its expertise in Halal-certified Gourmet Proteins, with processes fully aligned with Islamic Law and Halal Brazil standards. This commitment to excellence is further supported by SIF and HACCP certifications, ensuring full traceability, food safety, and compliance with the highest global requirements.

Brazil is renowned for its exceptional sanitary status and biosecurity in poultry production. Within this context, Villa Germania distinguishes itself by focusing on specialty segments, where each cut is crafted with meticulous attention to detail. From origin to final presentation, every product reflects our commitment to delivering Gourmet Proteins designed to serve the extraordinary.
